INTRODUCTION

The Salvation Army has been serving the people of Scotland since 1879. Today our work includes:

- 74 churches, which have Sunday worship services and a range of community work, including
  - Activity and interest groups of various kinds, from art classes to walking clubs
  - Cafés, breakfast clubs and lunch clubs
  - Charity shops and furniture recycling projects
  - Clubs for children, for youth and for senior citizens
  - Debt advice
  - Drop-in centres
  - Drug & alcohol addiction support
  - Employment projects
  - Emergency response
  - Food banks, food parcels and food distribution
  - Parents & toddlers groups and playgroups
  - Street projects
- 15 homeless projects, including residential, drop-in, floating support and resettlement services
- Three care homes/centres for older people
- A family tracing service
- Chaplaincy services
- A centre for adults with learning disabilities

This booklet will give you more details about the work, including contact information. You are welcome to visit any of our centres.

WHAT IS THE SALVATION ARMY?

How we started

The Salvation Army was founded in 1865 by a Methodist minister, William Booth. Working with volunteers from various churches in the East End of London he became the leader of a movement called 'The Christian Mission'. The work included evangelism, practical service and social action.

William Booth preaching in a tent meeting

In 1878 the name was changed to 'The Salvation Army'. William Booth became its General, and uniforms, ranks and flags were introduced.

General Booth's gifted wife, Catherine, played an influential part in the movement's early development, particularly in encouraging women to take on leadership roles.

The Salvation Army quickly spread to all parts of the United Kingdom, coming to Scotland in 1879. Expansion overseas followed, so that in 2016 it is at work in 127 countries.

What we do

Our International Mission Statement says: 'The Salvation Army, an international movement, is an evangelical part of the universal Christian Church. Its message is based on the Bible. Its ministry is motivated by the love of God. Its mission is to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ and to meet human needs in his name without discrimination.'

We believe that people consist of body, mind and soul, which means that they have both social and spiritual needs. In our work we seek to meet these needs with an integrated approach. This means that our corps (churches) usually provide community programmes as well as meetings for Christian worship – and the social centres, as well as addressing people’s physical, emotional and social needs, also have chaplains who can respond to spiritual needs.

Our social and community services are offered to people of all faiths and none. Although our Christian faith motivates the work, we do not require anyone to profess a Christian faith in order to benefit from it. We are called to ‘love our neighbour’ whoever they are and whatever they believe.

How we are organised

The Salvation Army’s International Headquarters is in London, from where our international leader (the General) oversees the work around the world.

Leadership is provided by full-time commissioned officers who are recognised ministers of religion. However, the work would not be possible without our members, employees and volunteers.

The work in 127 countries is organised into 62 territories, commands and regions.* The Salvation Army in Scotland is part of the United Kingdom Territory with the Republic of Ireland.

The Scotland Office is headed by the Secretary for Scotland. The office supports Salvation Army work across the country in a number of ways.

- Engaging with the Scottish Parliament. The Scotland Office responds to proposed legislation and highlights relevant policy issues. The Salvation Army has representatives on a number of cross party groups in the Scottish Parliament.
- Relating to other Christian churches and voluntary organisations. These include:
  - Action of Churches Together in Scotland (ACTS), which includes nine of the main Christian denominations in Scotland
  - Christian Aid Scotland
  - Church of Scotland Church and Society Council
  - Church of Scotland Ecumenical Relations Council
  - Evangelical Alliance in Scotland
  - Interfaith Scotland
  - Scottish Churches Committee
  - Scottish Churches Housing Action
  - Scottish Churches Parliamentary Office
  - Scottish Council of Voluntary Organisations
- Communicating through traditional media and social media.
- Co-ordinating Mission Scotland. The emphasis is on three mission priorities: disciple-making corps, children's and youth mission, and life-changing social mission. The Scotland Office works with the three Scotland divisions and Salvation Army social services in order to facilitate and co-ordinate these mission priorities.

THE SCOTLAND DIVISIONS

Across Scotland our corps (church) and community work is organised into three geographical divisions: East Scotland, North Scotland and West Scotland.

Each division is headed by a divisional commander who, with the team at divisional headquarters, supports the local work by providing pastoral care, training, mission planning and leader development.

Each divisional headquarters team includes a leader development officer, two mission enablers and a youth specialist.

CORPS AND COMMUNITY CENTRES

Salvation Army churches (we call them ‘corps’) are places of worship where Sunday services (or ‘meetings’) are held.

A typical Sunday congregation will be made up of a diverse mix of people from all backgrounds, ages and walks of life. Not everyone wears a uniform. Meetings are open to anyone who wants to explore or express the Christian faith.

Most corps also provide a practical expression of Christian faith during the week, when the doors are open to offer programmes and activities for the whole community. These may include youth activities, parents and toddlers groups, drop-in centres, lunch clubs, senior citizens’ clubs and lots more. They can also offer emergency assistance such as groceries and clothing to individuals and families in need.

DRUG AND ALCOHOL STRATEGY

Our drug and alcohol strategy is co-ordinated by the Scotland Office.

Treatment

We operate floating support for people affected by alcohol and drug misuse in four locations:

Aberdeen, North Scotland Division (page 17)
Greenock, West Scotland Division (page 27)
Stenhousemuir, East Scotland Division (page 15)
Stirling, East Scotland Division (page 15)

The Drug and Alcohol Strategy uses elements of the community reinforcement approach pioneered by Professor Robert Meyers. This model supports long-term recovery by creating a safe community in which to live, by analysing the clients' problems and by helping them to break away from traditional behavioural patterns and to learn new coping behaviours. An important factor is the involvement of significant others in the recovery process.

In each of the four locations there is a professionally qualified drug and alcohol support worker, aided by volunteers, who can support people as they go through the treatment programme.

Research

Our work aims to be evidence-based, so we co-fund a policy and data researcher at the University of Stirling, who is a qualified GP.

A further stage of the strategy will be to establish The Salvation Army Centre for Addictions Services and Research at the University of Stirling. This will be a hub to co-ordinate, train and monitor the floating support work, to showcase best practice when clients move from short-term residential care into floating support services, to identify and implement future strategy and to act as a professional voice in relationships with statutory providers and other agencies.

EMERGENCY SERVICES

Our emergency services involve officers and volunteers who are trained and available to respond to major incidents in the following ways:

- Providing refreshments and emotional support to responders at the incident site. We have emergency vehicles located in Edinburgh and Glasgow.
- Giving support to individuals at designated rest centres or humanitarian assistance centres.
- Supporting family members and friends at an emergency mortuary viewing area.
- Making our church buildings available as shelters for local residents who have been evacuated from their homes.

FAMILY TRACING SERVICE

www.salvationarmy.org.uk/FamilyTracing

The Family Tracing Service is based in our London headquarters, but an officer in Scotland is authorised to carry out research at the national records office in Edinburgh.

The service restores and sustains family relationships by locating relatives who have lost contact with each other. For some clients, searching for family is an emotional experience. With this in mind, the service has a professional, compassionate and non-judgemental approach, with support given throughout the searching process.

There is no guarantee of success in every search, but of applications accepted, the success rate is 89%.

HOMELESSNESS SERVICES

4 Buchanan Court, Cumbernauld Road, Stepps, Glasgow, G33 6HZ
0141 779 5251

We provide support services for those who are vulnerable and face homelessness. Many of our service users are marginalised, have complex needs and are from dysfunctional backgrounds. The issues they face can include substance misuse, mental illness and low self-esteem. Nevertheless, our intervention and diverse range of services, based on a person-centred approach, makes a vital difference.

In Scotland we have 15 centres and projects. These include hostels (called Lifehouses), resettlement projects, floating support services and day/drop-in centres.

A Lifehouse is more than a place to stay. The ultimate aim is to enable service users to move into their own rented accommodation. Each service user has a support worker who will assess their resettlement needs and help them move towards long-term, independent living.

Resettlement services provide a programme of intervention and support to help people break the cycle of homelessness at an early stage. Resettlement flats can be a positive step towards independent living where service users are helped to develop skills they will need when they move to their own rented accommodation.

Floating support workers assist people for a few months after they have moved into their own rented accommodation.

Our chaplaincy services complement the support services by providing spiritual guidance and assistance if requested.

The following pages show where our homeless services are located and what they do.

ABERDEENSHIRE

The Shield Project

Burnside Business Centre, Burnside Road, Peterhead AB42 3AW

01779 822045/6/7

www.salvationarmy.org.uk/shield-project

The Shield Project provides a floating support service to homeless individuals managing addictions across Aberdeenshire. It provides practical, emotional and spiritual support to those who are marginalised through homelessness, empowering them to develop skills, confidence and abilities to sustain an independent tenancy.

The service works across the biggest local authority area in Scotland, which at times means working in small isolated communities. There is a weekly drop-in service in Peterhead Corps (see page 21), which enables service users to meet together, reducing their social isolation. A number of partner agencies also attend to give additional support.

DUNDEE

Burnside Mill Lifehouse

01382 225448

www.salvationarmy.org.uk/strathmore-lodge-lifehouse

Strathmore Lodge provides direct access emergency first stage homelessness accommodation and Burnside Mill is a converted jute mill that provides a resettlement service.

The programme includes job clubs, service user-led forums, IT classes, creative media groups and a resettlement programme. A volunteer and furniture project actively engages up to 10 service users at a time.

EDINBURGH

Gateway

The Gateway visiting support is provided in partnership with Bethany Christian Trust and gives floating support to clients living in the community. This enables them to sustain their tenancies and to prevent homelessness or ensure the cycle of homelessness is eliminated.

Regener8+ Drop-in Centre

25 Niddry Street, Edinburgh EH8 9TF

0131 523 1060

www.salvationarmy.org.uk/niddry-street

An average of 25 people a day use this drop-in service. It provides low cost breakfast and lunch, activities and workshops, laundry and shower facilities and a chaplaincy service. There is also access to the Crisis Intervention Service whose project worker addresses any immediate needs and decides on an appropriate course of action.

GLOSSARY OF SALVATION ARMY TERMS

Adherent Member: A member of The Salvation Army who has not made the commitment to be a soldier.

Advisory Board: A group of influential citizens who, believing in the Army's work, assist in promoting and supporting projects.

CAMEO: Come Along and Meet Each Other (CAMEO) is a fellowship, activity and interest group at a corps.

Corps: A Salvation Army church established for Christian worship and fellowship, and providing faith-based community service. It is open to members and non-members.

Division: A number of corps grouped together under the direction of a divisional commander, operating within a territory.

Envoy: A non-officer soldier who is trained and appointed to lead a corps on a full-time basis.

Floating Support: Help and advice given to people living independently, but who need support in maintaining their tenancies or coping with drug and alcohol issues.

General: The officer who is elected to be the international leader of the Army, based at International Headquarters in London.

Home League: A women's group at a corps, with the aims of worship, education, fellowship and service.

House Group: A small group of people who meet in a person's home for Bible study, prayer and fellowship.

Junior Soldier: A child from the age of seven upwards, who has become a member of the Army.

Lifehouse: A hostel, which not only provides food and shelter for homeless people, but helps them develop skills in order to move on to independent living.

Local Officer: A soldier appointed to a position of responsibility in a corps on a voluntary basis.

Messy Church: An all-age worship meeting, which usually takes place mid-week, and can include craft and other interactive activities, songs and prayers.

Officer: A soldier who has been trained, commissioned and ordained to full-time service and leadership. An officer is a recognised minister of religion and may serve in a corps, social services or headquarters role.

Outpost: Work in a locality where it is hoped a corps will be established.

Salvation: God's work of grace in forgiving and transforming people. It can also refer to meeting human need, such as poverty, homelessness and addiction.

Salvationist: a junior or senior member of The Salvation Army.

Soldier: A person of at least 14 years of age who has a Christian faith and has been enrolled as a member of The Salvation Army. They sign the Soldier's Covenant, which is a statement of Christian beliefs and lifestyle promises.

Territory: A country, part of a country or several countries combined, in which Salvation Army work is organised under the leadership of a territorial commander.
