THE FIELD OFFICER.

“Go straight for Souls, and go for the worst.”—THE GENERAL.

No. 2.]

FEBRUARY, 1900.

[Vol. 8.]

TABLE TALKS ON VARIOUS MATTERS.

BY THE GENERAL.

“MAN proposes, but God disposes.” So runs the old proverb. How true it is. At least, it has proved itself so in my experience during the last few days. I had laid my plans, and, I must say, cherished some rather large expectations respecting them. I was fixed to do meetings in that big Theatre at Leeds where I have seen wonders done on previous occasions; then Hastings and Eastbourne were to follow, to say nothing about conferences on business, scribbings for the Press, and I know not what else; when, lo and behold, at three o'clock on the morning of the last Saturday of the Old Year, I was attacked by Influenza, and had to abandon my Yorkshire Campaign and settle down to fight the burning fever and the racking pain of this unexpected foe. However, great as was my disappointment, and unpleasant as was the malady, there was so much mercy associated with the experience that my heart was all along filled with gratitude and praise. I am slowly regaining my average measure of energy and strength, and before this reaches the eye of my Comrades, I shall, I trust, be back again in the thick of the fight.

* * *

As I have lain upon my bed, or sat musing in my room, I have been endeavouring to act upon the advice I am always giving to my Comrades, which is, when the opportunity for doing the bigger things is denied you, do the lesser that are within your power. That counsel must come within the four corners of the advice of Solomon when he said, “Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.”

* * *

DOING BIG THINGS.

Now, health and circumstances and a thousand other hindrances must be always shutting us out of the opportunity for doing big things—that is,
