2 Once I was far from God and His Son, Thought that my heart could never be won, By grace He sought out a rebel like me, And by His Blood I am now set free.

4 Once I was like to a tree so bare, You'd look in vain for the smallest fruit there, Now I am working for God as you see By faith the power He's given to me.

3 Once I was dead as dead could be, Till God sent His life-giving love unto me; Now I can praise His dear loving name; His wondrous love is ever the same.

5 Once I'd no hope that when death's hour should For me I'd find that a rest was begun; (come, But now I am trusting and holding on fast He'll send an angel for me at last.
