

HOLDING BACK THE REMEDY. †

"If the watchman . . . blow not the trumpet . . . if the sword come, and take any person, . . . his blood will I require at the watchman's hand."—Ezek. xxxiii. 6.

"The Gila monster" is a deadly reptile found in the deserts of Arizona, Southern California and Mexico. It is a lizard about eighteen inches long, and in colour so near that of the sunbaked ground that people frequently step on them and are bitten. The bite is fatal in about three hours. The Hualipic Indians, a Mexican tribe, have an antidote to the Gila monster's poison, but have kept it a secret, and have baffled all attempts of scientists to secure it. President Diaz, of Mexico, has made strenuous efforts to obtain the remedy of these Indians, even making them a personal visit, but in vain.

SAM JONES ON DRINK QUESTIONS.

Sam Jones, the American evangelist, says: "Here is one man who makes whisky, another who sells it, another who rents a house for the sale of it, another who votes with a party to license it, another who dies drunk. Now, if you can fix that up so that some of that crowd will go to Heaven and some to hell, you are a profounder philosopher than I have been."
