The distinction between a state of conversion and holiness, or of the infancy and manhood of a Christian character, is that in the former state love is imperfect, while in the latter it is perfected in the sense of quality, though not in the sense of growth.
—Mrs. Booth.

No culture will avail to produce good habits unless there has been a new heart from the Lord.—The General.

In order to attain holiness, and to be filled with the Love of God, the soul must EMBRACE GOD AS ITS GREAT GOOD.
—Mrs. Booth.

While you resist you don't sin.—Mrs. Booth.

Divine love always has respect to the highest interests of its object, and often demands action directly contrary to the ruling feeling or passion of the hour.—Mrs. Booth.
